THE FLURRIES

There’s a touch of August Grove in the magical world of Erinna

The amazing J.A. Cauldfield did me the honor of writing a poem for the short story collection, HOLIDAYS in AUGUST GROVE. It now has a permanent home on the Erinna website. Click the Erinna image to see/read the poem.

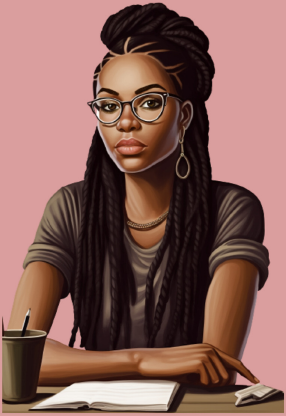
February Character Profile



TABITHA SPENCER PRUITT

Tabitha is, foremost, a mystery writer, and she writes thriller and crime fiction under the name T.S. Pruitt. That, however, wasn’t always easy. But amid the fight to find her writing identity, she discovered a love of paranormal fiction. Now, she also writes speculative fiction as Tabitha Spencer.

Ms. Spencer makes her debut in The Painted Trunk this month. More about that in The Blizzard.

An August Grove Mystery

The latest novel in The August Grove Collection is The Painted Trunk, Book 1 of The Painted Trunk Mysteries. The story follows author Tabitha Spencer as she tries to solve the murder of her arch-nemesis, and unravel the mystery of the old trunk the woman left her. Like always, the so-called gift came with a colossal catch: "Use the trunk to figure out who killed me."

There's a slight problem with that request. How?

Tabitha may have the means to break the case, but she doesn't know how to use it. And like in any good thriller, she's running out of time. There's already been another murder. As the hours tick down, the Paper Detective must uncover whatever secrets hide in the old chest before the killer eliminates the new owner of the painted trunk.

Expect a touch of the paranormal. After all, this is another August Grove Mystery. Read the first five chapters FREE. They're in The VAULT!

Publication formats will be ebook, paperback, and hardcover on 2/24/24! For stores, check my website at sybilward.com

The PUDDLE

There are new items in The VAULT this month, including an excerpt from a soon to be released novel, and a new trading card. This month, it's the Reaper, Phoenix.
